 $1.99	Kindermath By MathCoach Interactive	SHOW THIS MANY Many children learn number words but don't know what they mean. This activity helps you make sure that your child can see and understand the amount counted when we say a number. The ten frame models for 10 and 20 help your child keep track of counting. With ten frames children also intuitively see that one number is made up of smaller numbers. When children can see numbers within a number, they are better prepared to add and subtract. SORT, CLASSIFY, COUNT Engage children to sort pictures by different categories (size, color, shape, attribute). The audio names each object to reinforce language development. As children sort, the pictures move into a graph. Children then answer questions related to the data they collected in the graph. COMPARE NUMBERS Children begin at the concrete level to compare groups of objects and determine which has more, which has less, and which groups show the same amount. Children can tap on each group to hear each number. For advanced learners, levels C and D challenge children to listen and compare numbers greater than 20, using mathematical symbols for “more than”, “less than”, and “equal to.” COUNT ON FROM ANY NUMBER Children hear a number and then show how many with tenframes. Then they say the next three numbers. This is called “counting on.” As children count on, the model changes to show each new number. In this way children see that counting on means “one more” and discover auditory and visual number patterns.	MATH 2 & 4 Use Numbers to 10 MATH 6 Use Numbers to 20 MATH 1 Compare and Sort MATH 5 Construct and Use Graphs MATH 7 Compare Measurement MATH 10 Describe Geometric Figures MATH 1 Compare and Sort MATH 2 & 4 Use Numbers to 10 MATH 8 Use Numbers Beyond 20 MATH 2 & 4 Use Numbers to 10 MATH 6 Use Numbers to 20 MATH 8 Use Numbers Beyond 20

 $1.99	Measurement By Emantras Inc	CRAZY CLOCK: A friendly voice announces the time and all you do is to move the minute hand of a cute clock to set the correct time. Kids will get lots of practice learning to associate time with familiar activities in their day. Crazy Clock is a great introduction to the concept of time. SCALE TALE: This activity introduces kids to the concept of weight. An adorable one-eyed monster teaches kids this concept by holding two items and allowing them to guess which item is heavier or lighter. Is a pineapple heavier or lighter than a cup cake? Is a head of cabbage heavier or lighter than a strawberry? Familiar objects help kids learn the concept easily. FILL ME UP: If you had to teach the concept of volume at home you are sure to have a mess all over the floor. Instead, Fill Me Up allows you to teach this concept through easy exercises such as filling pitchers with liquids or jars with cookies minus the mess. LONG AND SHORT: Crayons, buses, park benches are all some of the familiar objects in a kid's life. And these can be found in this activity as objects of comparison to learn the concept of length. This game presents two objects of different lengths. Simply tap on the one that is longer or shorter. ACTION MONTHS: This game introduces the basics of duration of time through a simple drag and drop activity to fill in the letters of the months.
